President, Dulles Confer On Syrian Crisis At Luncheon

Watch-And-Wait Attitude Adopted

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (AP)—President Eisenhower reviewed the sweep of U. S. foreign affairs, including this country's torn relations with Syria, today in a conference with Secretary of State Dulles.

Dulles was accompanied to the White House luncheon meeting by Undersecretary Christian Herter, who has been in charge of the State Department during Dulles' nine-day vacation.

Angry Band Raids Steel Union Quarters

MURDOCHVILLE, Que., Aug. 19 (AP)—An angry, stick-wielding band of 100 men tonight raided headquarters of the Steelworkers Union on strike against the Gaspé Copper Mines Ltd.

The howling group, not identified at once, stormed into offices of the United Steelworkers of America, smashed furniture and windows and tossed chairs, tables, typewriters, filing cabinets and papers into the main street. Then they ran into the street and overturned automobiles, wrecking at least six.

Earlier in the day, police using tear gas dispersed a group of non-striking workers engaged in a stone-throwing affray with a special, 500-man picket line. Six men were injured and three cars smashed.

The picket line was made up of local strikers and 450 union representatives who converged on this Gaspé Peninsula copper mining town from all parts of Quebec Province.

They staged the demonstration in support of the Murdochville local, which has been on strike since March 11 for a new contract with higher pay.

The raid on the union headquarters came less than an hour after the visiting labor delegations left town.

Hood Gives Up To Authorities

NEW YORK, Aug. 19 (AP)—A small-time hoodlum walked into a midtown police station today and surrendered for questioning in the May 2 shooting of racketeer Frank Costello, 67.

Accompanied by his lawyer, the wanted man, Vincent (Chin) Gigante, appeared without advance warning at the W. 54th St. precinct house and asked: "Do you want me in the Costello case?"

"We sure do," Dep. Inspector Fred Lussen assured him.

Gigante, 30, weighs 230 pounds. He is one of several persons who fit the description of the waddling assassin who creased Costello's skull with a bullet outside the racketeer's apartment.

Costello, himself, has given police no help in their search for the assassin. The underworld lord claims he doesn't know who shot him. His injuries were slight.

Among those brought in to face him during questioning was Costello himself.

CANNES, France, Aug. 19 (AP)—The Begum Aga Khan let it be known today she will not attend the wedding of her stepson, Prince Sadruddin Khan, to the London model, Nina Dyer.

The wedding is to take place Aug. 27 in Geneva, Switzerland. The official reason given was the nervous depression from which the Begum is suffering since the death of Aga Khan, the Ismaili Moslem leader.

Plan Speed-Up

Gov. Knight To Seek Calif. Post Again

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 19 (AP)—Republican Gov. Goodwin Knight of California today announced his candidacy for re-election next year with a blast, obviously directed at Sen. William F. Knowland, against using the state office as a "pawn in the presidential contest."

Reports long have been current that Knowland will oppose Knight for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

Knight noted that California has two potential contenders for president in 1960. Both, he said, without identifying them as Knowland and Vice President Nixon, are "able and distinguished men."

But, he added, in what could only be taken as a reproach for Knowland: "The governor's office of California, at this critical period, however, is far too important to the welfare of the people of this state to be allowed to become a pawn in the presidential contest."

Knight said he was making his declaration early "to resolve any doubts concerning my intentions."

Knowland has arranged a month-long statewide speaking tour beginning Sept. 3. He has said he will announce his decision after that.

Knight, 59, has been California's chief executive since Earl Warren went to the Supreme Court in 1953.

LEVITTOWN, Pa., Aug. 19 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. William Myers Jr., first Negroes to buy a home in the 15,000-home all-white community of Levittown, moved into their new home today despite organized protests by their neighbors.

Myers, a refrigeration engineer, drove up to the house in his 1957 automobile today with his wife, their daughter, Linda, 2, and two white men.

"We're here to stay," he told a reporter.

State troopers ringed the one-story ranch dwelling in the Dogwood Hollow section of this sprawling residential community of 60,000 persons.

Five Alpinists Escape Storm

TRENT, Italy, Aug. 19 (AP)—Five French mountain climbers, caught in shorts and blouses by a snow-storm high on Sasso Lungo Peak, fought their way down to their base camp tonight. Seven other climbers trapped in this Alpine area were believed dead.

The French, including a woman, reached the Valtini shelter on the Sella Pass whence they had tackled the 10,400-foot peak near Bolzano yesterday. They were reported thoroughly chilled but otherwise alright.

A rescue party of 11 guides had tried unsuccessfully to find them. The guides turned back after getting half way up the mountain, reporting they had encountered snow up to their armpits.

The other seven climbers were trapped on 10,963-foot Marmolata Peak near Trent. They were in two parties. One was made up of two men, believed to be Germans, Swiss or Austrians. The other was a party of five believed to be Italians.

Mountain experts, foiled by the snow and freezing temperatures in efforts to reach the seven today, expressed belief all had perished. Weather permitting, a fresh hunt will be launched for them at dawn tomorrow.

North Demos Request Session On Civil Rights

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (AP)—Four Northern Democrats acted today to pull the civil rights bill out of the House Rules Committee, where it has been corked up for almost a week.

They presented a formal request to rules Chairman Smith (D-Va.) to call a meeting on the bill and get it moving through the legislative channels again.

Smith, an uncompromising foe of civil rights legislation in any form, has until Thursday to decide whether to call the meeting and clear the bill for House action.

If he hasn't acted by then the committee rules provide that a meeting may be called by a majority vote of its 12 members.

The request for action was made by Democratic Reps. Bolling (Mo.), Delaney (Mass.), O'Neill (Mass.) and Madden (Ind.). All are members of the Rules Committee.

The four other Democratic members of the committee are opposed to the bill, so the Northern Democrats will have to depend on help from the four Republican members if they are to pry it loose.

Smith declined to say what he would do now that the pressure is on. He said he is still inclined to take any course of action which would result in no civil rights bill at all.

The letter from the four Democrats asked for committee consideration of two resolutions introduced in the House to push the bill along.

A Democratic proposal by Rep. Celler of New York would have the House accept the Senate version of the civil rights measure with a watered-down jury trial amendment.

Rep. Keating (R-NY) has also offered a resolution to send the legislation to a Senate-House conference for adjustment of differences.

Airliner Lands With Engine Out

BALTIMORE, Aug. 19 (AP)—An airliner with 35 passengers aboard landed safely at Friendship International Airport today, with one of its four engines not functioning properly.

The Eastern Airlines Super Constellation was en route from Boston to Miami. It took off at 9:26 a.m., EDT, and turned back three minutes later for an emergency landing.

Typhoon Misses Japan, Okinawa

TOKYO, Tuesday, Aug. 20 (AP)—Typhoon Agnes spared Okinawa and southern Japan from her full fury today and churned toward the west coast of South Korea.

The season's first big storm, with center winds of 140 miles an hour, sent hundreds of Japanese fishing boats scurrying for cover in the ports of Red China and Japan.

Major Effort To Restore Aid Cut Made

Dulles Says U.S. Security Endangered, Ike Calls On Martin

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (AP)—The Eisenhower administration made new and major efforts today to save its foreign aid program from the $809,659,000 cut voted by the House.

Secretary of State Dulles told the Senate Appropriations Committee that the House cut threatened "the whole foundation of our security structure."

President Eisenhower went to the unusual length of calling in House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.) and asking him for help.

"I told him," Rayburn reported to newsmen, "that if the Senate added on something, and if I'm convinced it's necessary, then I'd help."

Made Excellent Case

Dulles and other administration pleaders made "a very excellent case," Chairman Hayden (D-Ariz.) of the Appropriations Committee said. But he declined to speculate on what the committee will do.

Sen. Pastore (D-R.I.) commented that "the national security is involved, I'm inclined to resolve any doubts in support of the opinion of the experts."

Sens. Saltonstall (R-Mass.) and Holland (D-Fla.) said the administration made out "a good case" and they were ready to vote some restorations.

Sen. Robertson (D-Va.) said, however, that "as of the present, I am inclined to support the House bill."

The administration admittedly faced trouble in getting the Senate to vote all of the $3,367,000,000 which has been authorized in new money for the year which began July 1.

And if the Senate should vote to restore all or part of the amount the House slashed below that figure, there was no assurance that the House would go along.

Still Money Unspent

Rep. Passman (D-La.), a chief engineer of the House cut, noted in a statement that there is $6,200,000,000 still unspent from previously voted foreign aid funds, in addition to the 2½ billion in new money approved by the House.

Passman said this combined total would be enough to run the aid program for 2½ years at the present scale. He said there will be "no capitulation to substantial increases" which the Senate might vote.

"The House action was based on the facts as they are and not upon the unsupported wishes of a misinformed President," he said.

Dulles was accompanied before the Senate committee by Adm. Arthur W. Radford, who retired as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff last week; Gen. Nathan F. Twining, the new chairman; and John B. Hollister, outgoing chairman of the International Cooperation Administration, the foreign aid agency. They spent three hours before the committee.

Jet Makes Seven Carrier Landings By Push-Button

PENSACOLA, Fla., Aug. 19 (AP)—A twin-jet F3D Sky Knight was landed on the aircraft carrier Antietam seven times today without the pilot touching his controls.

Lt. Cmdr. Don Walker, Patuxent, Md., actually placed his hands on his head during one of the push-button landings in the Gulf of Mexico off Pensacola.

They were part of the first public demonstration by the Navy, Bell Aircraft Corp. and Reeves Instrument Corp. of an automatic landing of a plane on a carrier at sea. The electronic system previously has been demonstrated on land.

The device, still in the experimental stage, is designed to relieve the aviation field of one of its most vital hazards, the weathered-in landing field. It has been under test since 1950.

Mohn Accepts Part In Phony Union Charters

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (AP)—Vice President Einar O. Mohn of the Teamsters Union took full responsibility today for issuing charters to seven New York locals described by senators as hoodlumed phony.

But Mohn said the idea originated with James R. Hoffa, another teamster Vice President who has become a central figure in the Senate investigation of the union.

Mohn said he was unaware of the locals' racketeer leadership, and okayed the charters as a routine thing.

Chairman McClellan of the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee has charged that the seven locals were used by Hoffa, Teamster boss in the Midwest, in a way calculated to extend his influence to New York.

The locals' votes helped defeat Martin Lacey as president of the New York Teamster Council 16, and replace him with John O'Pourke, a Hoffa man.

Each local was entitled to cast seven votes. There has been testimony that persons who had no connection with the union were listed as their delegates to the council.

Hoffa, who is expected to appear before the committee tomorrow, is now favored to become president of the Teamsters, replacing Dave Beck.

Mohn was the first witness called at today's session and he occupied the stand most of the afternoon, although the committee previously had announced plans to summon an unidentified witness ahead of him. The only other witness heard was Teresa Hanlon, a clerk in the Teamsters headquarters office, who followed Mohn.

Mohn told the senators that he hears the AFL-CIO is making some modification of its system for expelling union officials who invoke the Fifth Amendment to protect themselves.

"How basic it's going to be, I don't know," he said.

Doctor Mans High-Altitude Test Craft

Expects To Remain 24 Hours At 19-Mile Level In Atmosphere

CROSBY, Minn., Aug. 19 (AP)—An Air Force doctor, bent on proving human beings can live in outer space, today embarked on a balloon flight that started near the bowels of the earth he left behind.

Maj. David G. Simons of Lancaster, Pa., was carried aloft beneath a balloon launched from an open pit iron mine 450 feet deep. It was probably the most ambitious lighter-than-air excursion since the Montgolfier brothers sent a manned, hot air balloon over France in 1783.

Simons sat in a small aluminum gondola as the helium filled plastic bag lifted him out of the craggy depths of the H. M. Hanna Co. Portsmouth mines on the Cuyuna iron range in northern Minnesota.

Launched From Pit — The balloon was launched from the deep mine-long pit to prevent surface winds from tearing its delicate plastic to shreds.

The shimmering gas bag cleared a 50-foot ledge, then rose above the horizon into a blue sky flecked with white clouds.

Maj. Simons was expected to reach a maximum altitude of 102,000 feet — more than 19 miles — and stay there for 24 hours to observe conditions in the upper 100th of the earth's atmosphere.

At 1 p.m., 3½ hours after take-off, he was observed over the Brainerd, Minn., airport, 15 miles south of here, at an estimated 100,000 feet. The launching site is about 140 miles north of Minneapolis.

His course was expected to turn west upon reaching ceiling altitude, bringing him over North Dakota and into eastern Montana before he descends tomorrow afternoon.

The flight, said Col. John P. Slapp, rocket sled expert and director of the "Man High" balloon project, will provide important information to the Air Force in future air travel in that part of space.

May Break Records

Maj. Simons, 34, space biology chief of Holloman Air Development Center in New Mexico, not only was expected to break all manned-balloon altitude records, but also to set a pace for endurance at high altitudes.

With only his radio to break the silence, Simons will fight the psychological battle of claustrophobia and loneliness for 24 hours at the "top of the sky."

Instruments will measure his physical reactions while others measure cosmic rays and atmospheric conditions.

Hundreds of persons gathered at the mine rim to watch the ascent. Maj. Simons entered the gondola at 11 o'clock last night to breathe a mixture of oxygen and helium to condition himself against painful and often fatal "bends" in his pressurized quarters.

Man Defends Son At Hearing

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Aug. 19 (AP)—A father arrived here from North Carolina today to defend his 19-year-old son on a charge of murder.

Charles L. Guy, an attorney from Dunn, N.C., represented his son, Charles Lee Guy III, as the youth was arraigned on a charge of murdering Hollywood advertising executive Guy F. Roberts, 45, in a Santa Monica motel last Thursday.

The attorney is divorced from the boy's mother and hadn't seen his son for 12 years until he visited him in his jail cell.

The mother, Mrs. Nina James Angus also was present in the courtroom. Police report that she was living with Roberts in the motel where he was slain and that she told them she and Roberts were to be married this week.

Young Guy reportedly admitted killing Roberts with a shotgun blast as the man lay in bed, but gave no reason for his act. Police said the youth had been drinking heavily the night before the shooting. He was ordered to appear for a preliminary hearing Thursday.

Talks Concluded

CAIRO, Aug. 19 (AP)—President Nasser and Greek Premier Constantinos Karamanlis concluded their talks today. A joint statement said they "reviewed the international situation and particularly that of neighboring areas to both Greece and Egypt."

UN Plans Hungary Meeting Sept. 10

By MILTON BESSER

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Aug. 19 (AP)—The U.N. today set Sept. 10 for a special General Assembly session on Hungary. The United States immediately called for full approval of a U.N. investigating committee report assailing the Soviet Union for stomping out last fall's revolt with brutal military might.

Prince Wan Waithayakon of Thailand, Assembly president, notified all 81 member nations of the decision to call the special session a week in advance of the regular 1957 session.

The special meeting will deal chiefly with the 150,000-word report of the special committee on Hungary which was issued last June.

The United States, which has taken the lead in seeking Assembly debate on the report, hailed with satisfaction the announcement by Prince Wan.

A statement from the U.S. delegation at the United Nations said Henry Cabot Lodge, delegation head, believes the special session should focus its attention on three principal points in reviewing the Hungarian situation.

They were:

"1. The Soviet Union has not withdrawn its legions from Hungary. This is in defiance of the oft-expressed wish of the General Assembly.

"2. The Hungarian regime of Premier Janos Kadar, resting uneasily on Red bayonets, is carrying on a policy of arrests and intimidation that is absolutely repulsive.

"3. The report of the special committee on Hungary is full of facts demonstrating beyond doubt the dominant role of the Soviet in crushing the Freedom Fighters last fall. This report should be stamped with full approval of the General Assembly."

Kadar has headed the Hungarian government ever since Soviet troops crushed the revolt of last November. Many alleged leaders of the revolt have been arrested, brought to trial and executed.

The Soviet Union has accused the United States of fomenting the revolt in Hungary. The entire Soviet bloc objected vigorously to the decision by the Assembly last November naming the five-nation investigating committee.

Representatives of Australia, Ceylon, Denmark, Tunisia and Uruguay were unable to make an on - the - spot inquiry because Kadar's Soviet-supported regime barred entry of the committee.

But the committee heard testimony from refugees who took part in the revolt.

The committee concluded that the revolt was a spontaneous uprising due to resentment by the Hungarians of rule by terror and domination by the Soviet Union.

The committee said it found no evidence that the revolt was provoked by Western "imperialists" as charged by Moscow.

Experts Labor To Remove 3 Tunnel Victims

OSWEGO, N. Y., Aug. 19 (AP)—Experts labored today to remove the bodies of three workmen entombed by an explosion 10 minutes before they could place the final dynamite charge for an underwater tunnel more than a mile long.

A fourth man was asphyxiated in rescue operations.

Thirteen others collapsed from lack of oxygen.

The blast yesterday was the first serious accident in the 17-month job of digging the water supply tunnel through solid rock 100 feet under Lake Ontario.

A team of mining experts began moving slowly into the shaft late today, just behind a 12-inch pipe through which air was being blown to clear the shaft of deadly carbon monoxide gas.

The immediate cause of the explosion remained a mystery. Evidently something touched off a charge of high-potential dynamite the three were carrying to place at the end of the 6,250-foot tunnel. They were about 5,000 feet inside.

About 1,000 pounds of dynamite already had been placed for the final blast through 15 to 18 feet of rock. This would have broken through the lake bed and allowed water to rush through the tunnel, which is nine feet wide. Fellow workmen said the three would have placed the dynamite they carried and checked the wiring for the blast in another 10 minutes.

The dead were Phil Aylor, 36, Harrisonburg, Va., the tunnel foreman; Linwood P. Heiston, 47, Niagara Falls, N.Y., the general superintendent; and John Lagoe, 40, an electrician of Oswego.

But it may not last long and it is probably too late to save corn, tobacco and most truck crops. Growers of soybeans will be helped, however.

Besides Southern Maryland and the lower Eastern Shore, the rains also fell on Sussex County Delaware. The northern and western portions of Maryland received no rainfall at all.

Young 'Muggers' Sentenced To 'Good Thrasing'

UPPER MARLBORO, Md., Aug. 19 (AP)—Two boys, aged 9 and 10, accused of wielding knives in a robbery attempt, were sentenced today in Prince Georges County juvenile court to receive "one good thrashing" for their misdeed.

Judge Emmett H. Nanna, commenting that the boys are "a little young to be in the mugging business," directed their parents to "lay on a little wood." He warned that only the boys' ages saved them from a term in the training school.

The boys, who admitted their offense but offered no explanation, are from Hyattsville.

They were accused of having attempted to rob an off-duty Washington policeman when he stopped his car for a traffic light.

Protest Closing Of Bainbridge

PERRYVILLE, Md., Aug. 19 (AP)—The mayor of Perryville, concerned about the Navy's plans to end recruit training at the Bainbridge Naval training Center, today appealed to members of Congress for aid.

Mayor William B. Gorrell wrote Senators J. Glenn Beall (R-Md) and John Marshall Butler (R-Md) and Rep. Edward T. Miller (R-Md) urging them to try to change the Navy's mind.

The Navy has announced recruit training at Bainbridge will end Sept. 1, causing an almost immediate drop in the number of military personnel at the center from 12,000 to 4,500.

Gorrell wrote: "We, the town of Perryville, and communities adjoining the Bainbridge Naval Training Center are much concerned about the proposed change to be made at the base."

"Any reduction in the activities will be disastrous to our town and all surrounding communities. Therefore, we suggest and hope that you use all your power and influence to maintain the base as is."

The Romans developed the sword with the tapered point.

Couple Plans Appeal Over Child Custody

BALTIMORE, Aug. 19 (AP)—A Baltimore couple will lose custody tomorrow of a child they were told they couldn't adopt because they are middle-aged and Lutheran.

But Mr. and Mrs. Frank Frantum still plan to appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States. He is 53 and his wife 47.

They accepted a sickly baby boy from the Department of Welfare. When the boy was well, the Department offered it for adoption. The Frantums applied. The Department turned them down because the baby's mother had requested he be raised a Catholic.

The Department decision was upheld by the Baltimore Circuit Court and the Maryland Court of Appeals.

The Department says it now has found "suitable adoptive parents" and Circuit Judge Anselm Sodaro signed yesterday an order for the Frantums to give up the boy.

The approved foster parents were identified as Navy Lt. and Mrs. Kenneth Adams of St. Mary's County. Lt. Adams is stationed at the Patuxent River Naval Air Station.

The Navy couple is Catholic. He is 32 and his wife 39. They have an adopted girl.

"We are still going to appeal to the Supreme Court," said a lawyer for the Frantums.

Celebrities' Appearances At Libel Trial Limited

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 19 (AP)—The articles which the prosecution read to the jury concerned witnesses were dashed today with a ruling that evidence would be limited to articles that had been read in the Confidential magazine libel trial.

The decision came after status-que, red-haired Mylee Andreason, Dick Powell, June Allyson, Robert Mickey Hargitay, Corinne Calvet, Billy Daniels, Jayne Mansfield, Mitchum and Mae West.

In addition, three entire issues of Confidential and one of its affiliate, Whisper, were introduced into evidence. Doubt remained whether articles in them could also be used in testimony.

Defense Atty. Arthur Crowley said the ruling would cut his list of witnesses by a considerable number. Prosecutor William Ritz declared the limitation was a victory for his side.

The Las Vegas, Nev., singer was excused.

Racket Probers Need Money

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (AP)—The Senate Rackets Investigating Committee, saying it has only started on what needs to be done, today asked the Senate for another $150,000 to finance it through Jan. 31.

The money would raise the committee's budget to half a million dollars for its first year of searching for evidence of racketeering, graft and other wrongdoing in the labor-management field.

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) asked for the money in a prepared Senate speech. He said the committee, now in the climactic week of its hearings on racketeering in New York, plans "some five or six additional series of public hearings" involving other areas after Congress quits.

McClellan predicted the committee's work will bring large savings to the taxpayers and the consuming public which "will far outweigh any monies expended by this committee."

Skinny Bank Robber Caught

BALTIMORE, Aug. 19 (AP)—Charles Wilson, skinny little bank robber who wriggled out of the Maryland penitentiary 10 days ago, was picked up today sitting on a doorstep in the morning darkness.

"I wish you had shot me instead of taking me," he said disconsolately to five policemen pointing guns at him.

He had no weapon or money and he was hungry.

Wilson, 24 years old, is only two inches taller than five feet and weighs about 120 pounds. He pried cell bars apart only an inch more than their normal five inches to squeeze through at the penitentiary in downtown Baltimore on Aug. 10.

Somebody squealed on the whereabouts of the fugitive from a 20-year sentence for a $30,000 bank holdup in 1954.

An excited, unidentified man telephoned police at 3 a.m. to tell them Wilson was walking around East Baltimore. Within an hour, the police spotted him sitting on a house step.

Demo Committee Member Loses Leg

BALTIMORE, Aug. 19 (AP)—Stephen J. Kenny, member of the Anne Arundel County Democratic State Central Committee, was reported in critical condition today at South Baltimore General Hospital following amputation of his right leg.

The 36-year-old Brooklyn Park man, who operates a well-digging concern, was injured Friday while operating a dry well machine on Fort Smallwood Road.

In addition to being active in county Democratic party affairs, Kenny is a member of the county sanitary commission. He and his wife have three children.

Keeping Current... For Economy!

In the illustration above, you see a very happy man at a very wonderful moment.

The title, the keys and the car are his—and he's starting out on his first journey at the wheel.

Of course, there's not much doubt as to why he decided to purchase a new Cadillac.

Like everyone else who selects the "car of cars", he did it to "keep current", so to speak, on all of Cadillac's new miracles of performance and beauty and comfort.

But coming to Cadillac, as he did, at this particular time of the year, we also suspect that he was inspired by the added motive of practicality.

For in addition to the normal Cadillac economies of modest purchase price, low operating cost and high resale value—Cadillac dealers are, at this time, seasonally prepared to make Cadillac ownership even more attractive than ever.

Because of the demand for used cars and because of increased production of the Cadillac car itself, the odds are that this gentleman received both a generous allowance on his previous car and prompt delivery of his new Cadillac.

Have you considered how wonderful it would be to step into a Cadillac of your own? Then, you should pay your dealer a visit—spend an hour on the highway in the luxury of Fleetwood coachcrafting—and get the facts for yourself.

You'll agree, we know, that the car is Cadillac—and the time is now!

New York Probes Migrant Labor Camps

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 19 (AP)—About 32,000 migrants flock northward each year to harvest New York's billion-dollar farm crop and earn about 20 million dollars in wages.

Are they housed in unsanitary hovels and treated as slaves, as a leader of the National Assn. for Advancement of Colored People charges?

State officials have launched a new investigation of migrant labor camps throughout the state as the result of the complaint.

Conditions Better

Through state laws and the efforts of church and farm groups, the migrants' housing and labor conditions have improved markedly in the last 20 years.

But no one denies there still is work to be done.

The new complaint that camps in central New York were ignoring state health and labor regulations was made by Herbert Hill, labor secretary of the NAACP. Hill said he had found "blatant and widespread violations" in 10 camps in four counties.

Investigators were sent out immediately by the state industrial commissioner, Isador Lubin. He promised that his sleuths eventually would check all labor camps in the state and that violators of the law would be prosecuted.

Hill called the use of migrants on farms the "20th Century slave racket."

He described one camp he visited as "literally a concentration camp." He said it was hidden in an isolated area at Martville, in central New York, and surrounded by barbed wire. Guards prevented him and the Rev. Latta Thomas, president of the Elmira NAACP branch from entering, Hill reported.

"I found labor camps consisting of abandoned farm houses, dilapidated shacks and lean-to shanties. Some were without any toilet facilities," Hill said in an interview.

Hill also claimed that he found a 9-year-old boy and his sister, 13, working on a farm at Prattsville. State law sets a minimum age of 14 for agricultural employment during the nonschool season.

There are about 1,000 migrant camps in New York. Each houses from five to 500 workers, predominantly Negro. Some families are settled in cabins. State officials say all camps are closely supervised by health and police inspectors.

Six To Room

Hill claims that at one camp he visited he found "as many as five or six people sleeping in a room measuring no more than five feet wide with tiers of bunks three high."

Most migrants live in central camps set up by cooperatives. Large farm operators run their own camps.

Each spring, New York farm employment service representatives go south to arrange for the migration. In Florida and other states they contact crew leaders—labor contractors—who fill their orders for manpower.

All crew leaders bringing workers into New York must register with the state. This helps weed out undesirables, such as those with police records.

Migrants leave New York as broke as they arrived. A willing worker can earn $10 to $15 a day but the weather and personal indulgence make deep inroads in to pay envelopes.

State officials say most migrants are well-behaved. The bulk stick close to camp, except for week-end excursions to town.

However, the president of a large farmer cooperative hiring migrants says the "big problem" is maintaining living and dining facilities that conform to state health standards.

The laborers "are not the most tidy people in the world, and when they get drunk they get destructive," he asserts.

Church officials who work closely with the migrants report the workers "are not concerned about equality or integration or any of those other fancy words. They simply crave understanding, and the kind of aid that will help them help themselves."

'Missing' Marines Located By Police

Three Marines who sustained minor injuries in a one-car accident Saturday at Springfield have been located at Camp Lejeune, N. C., by West Virginia State Police.

State Police said the driver of the vehicle will be asked to return to Romney to face a motor vehicle charge.

Police said the car, traveling north on State Route 28, failed to negotiate a curve, and crashed into the side of a store owned by L. G. Martin. The car continued on following the accident.

City To Act Next Week On Phone Rates

The Mayor and Council will consider next week a resolution in protest to a proposed increase in rates by the C&P Telephone Company.

Council yesterday authorized City Attorney Thomas B. Finan to prepare the resolution which will come to a vote at its next Monday session.

Before deciding to prepare the resolution, council discussed the move briefly. Commissioner William H. Buchholtz said the average businessman will benefit. He said it would be on the same principal as gas and electric rates—the more you use the less the rate.

"The little man suffers again," commented Commissioner William H. Keegan.

"We represent all the people," said Commissioner John J. Long. Buchholtz said he agreed but he was trying to point out both sides in all fairness and added that the C&P is a big taxpayer here.

"But it has no competition," countered Keegan.

Long said if council lets this go without some action, "it will give the impression that the increase is okeh with us."

On other matters yesterday, council confirmed Russell L. Livengood Jr., as a regular member of the Fire Department; Thomas E. Andrews and Oliver L. Cook as regular members of the Police Department.

It accepted the resignations of Mrs. Marian Ryan, employed in the tax collector's office, effective Sept. 1; and that of S. Robert Wigfield from the Fire Department.

Grace Van Pelt's status as junior stenographer in the city auditor's office was changed from temporary to probationary. The salary is $212 a month.

The Board of Election Supervisors presented certification of the vote in last Tuesday's tax limitation referendum. It showed 4,530 votes cast with 3,872 against and 452 for the proposal.

Ridgeley Tax Levy Approved

Mayor Charles H. Fryer of Ridgeley has been notified that the West Virginia State Tax Commissioner has approved the 1957-58 levy estimate as prepared by the Town Council.

Mayor Fryer said the approved levy list is in the mail and he has set the first public reading of the levy order for 7:30 p. m. Thursday in the Town Hall. The levy must be read at three public meetings, he explained, in order that residents can voice any objections to portions of the tax measure and estimated expenditures. The levy becomes law after the third meeting if there are no major objections to the measure.

The second and third meetings are scheduled for Thursday, September 5, the next regular meeting of the Council with the final reading scheduled to come as a special meeting of the Council.

City Offices To Close On Labor Day Holiday

City Hall offices and departments will be closed Monday, Sept. 2, Labor Day, the Mayor and Council ordered yesterday.

The regular meeting of council will be held Tuesday, Sept. 3 at 10 a. m.

Prisoner Must Mend Clothes

A local man who was ordered last Saturday to spend the weekend in City Jail sewing his clothes, will spend at least another night in the lockup.

Seems Olie Sponaugle, who was apprehended on two minor violations, was ordered by Magistrate J. Milton Dick to spend the weekend sewing up his clothes which he allegedly tore while in jail Friday night.

The man told Magistrate Dick that he had been "dragged down the steps" to a soundproof cell by officers. There were no signs of bruises or contusions to support his story.

Sponaugle was ordered to return to his cell, sew his clothes and return for a hearing yesterday.

The man walked into court with both pants and shirt looking "shining new." After a close examination, Magistrate Dick noticed the man had changed clothes.

The magistrate told the man to return to his cell, get the torn clothes and mend the pants and shirt by this morning.

Eves Rapped At Council Meeting For Not Stopping Ditch Debate

Stating that "this has reached the saturation point," Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz yesterday rapped Mayor Roy W. Eves for his failure to limit debate over an open ditch sewage problem and related subjects in the Wempe Drive-Oldtown Road section.

Buchholtz spoke out at yesterday's meeting of the Mayor and Council after a delegation from the area appeared for the fourth or fifth week in succession to protest what it has termed a health hazard and danger to children at play.

Buchholtz, who two weeks ago estimated cost of repairing the site at $90,000 repeated again yesterday that "the solution is money."

The delegation has hammered away at its problem week after week and yesterday Mrs. Frank White, who has been on hand at each meeting, interposed questions at various times during the meeting.

When she got to the floor again after the discussion had apparently been closed, Buchholtz said he believed Mayor Eves has an obligation in this matter since he was there and inspected the site two weeks ago. Buchholtz said the Mayor knows what the situation is and what he (Buchholtz) is doing to try to solve it.

"It is up to him to say that there has been enough discussion on it," the commissioner said, adding "This has reached the saturation point."

Mrs. White protested this approach saying that as taxpayers she and her group have the right to find out where the tax money is going and to bring their problems before council.

Buchholtz also had a "rather sharp answer for John McFarland, 507 Pine Avenue, who is building a house on East Side and said dust conditions are so bad that new paint looks brown overnight."

Buchholtz pointed out again he has one grader and one distributor in his department and both are worn out. He said street oiling follows a pattern and he cannot go from one section to another just to oil one street and then return. He said "We must grade and roll streets before they are only so much."

Coming before council will not speed up the work, he said, since the department will get to it as soon as it can. The first job which the department must finish is the new road to Northeast School on Valley Road. When that is completed, oiling and related projects will be speeded up. Referring to the defeated proposal for a tax limitation hike, Buchholtz said the people turned down the chance of getting some new equipment.

The fact that present equipment is worn out "is nobody's fault," he added, stating that his department has only so much money, so many people and only so much equipment, and can do only so much.

What's in a name, after all? Nothing or Everything? It might be a matter of life or death where drugs are concerned. For example, MercurIOUS chloride is ordinary calomel, a laxative when used medicinally. MercurIC chloride is a violent poison, better known as Bichloride of Mercury. To an untrained person it would be very easy to make a mistake between the two, but to the pharmacist at Walsh-McCagh caution is second nature. This is just one example of a similarity in drug names, but a great disparity in drug usage. Certainly anyone can count out a few pills or pour into a bottle, but it's knowledge behind these actions that makes the difference where drug dispensing is concerned. Details Of Surplus Funds Listed In County Report

Allegany County wound up its 1956-57 fiscal year with a whopping $562,685 surplus to put into its levy for the 1957-58 fiscal year.

The county, according to audited figures, had actual revenues during the year amounting to $4,189,397. However, deducting the discounts given for early payment of taxes, and the insolventcies granted, the net revenues were $4,042,147.

The county commissioners had estimated it would receive $3,789,563 when it set the levy for the past fiscal year in April 1956. The commissioners had an aggregate of $248,112 in unexpended balances from the previous year to throw into the 1956-57 revenue column.

The commissioners appropriated a total of $4,037,567, but according to the final figures for each departmental account, the actual expenditures amounted to $3,954,809, leaving a surplus of $82,766.

Adding the $82,766 to the $252,583 received in revenues over what was estimated, give a net balance of $335,350.

Adding to it the unappropriated surplus of $235,172, gave the county a total surplus of $562,685.

In explaining the unappropriated surplus of $235,172, Mrs. Sills pointed out that in April 1956

City Seeks SRC Assistance

The Mayor and Council moved yesterday to request the State Roads Commission to program the proposed George Street extension as the first step in obtaining federal assistance on the project.

The order approved qualified itself by providing that the city will inform the SRC when it has sufficient funds in the urban development bond account for such an improvement and further provided that the city does not obligate itself until the time funds are available to meet its share.

Estimated cost of the entire project, including rights of way and construction, is $100,000 of which $50,000 would be paid by the city, according to a report made by C. R. Nuzum, city engineer.

In January, the SRC requested and the Federal Bureau of Public Roads approved, that George Street be included in the Federal Aid Secondary System.

Before submitting the request, the SRC Planning Division made a study of the Cumberland Planning Commission's recommendation to extend George from Frederick, parallel to the B&O Railroad to a point near the B&O viaduct where it would be connected with Centre Street. The studies indicated that to open up George Street would improve the flow of traffic from the downtown shopping area to North Cumberland, particularly after the Cumberland Thruway is completed; with the exit and approach ramps which connected to George Street or Commerce Street near Salem Street.

Nuzum said the estimate was prepared so the council might consider opening George Street by stages and includes the cost of property acquisition. The street would be 40 feet wide.

At the time the Frederick Street project was approved, it was anticipated that George Street be extended so when Frederick was made one-way north, traffic would be able to get to Bedford Street without crossing B&O tracks.

Since the street is included in the federal aid system, the city is eligible to receive 50 per cent of costs of construction and rights-of-way acquisition, Nuzum pointed out. Total cost of opening the street includes $88,280 for rights-of-way and $11,720 for construction.

Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan said he favors the program as quickly as possible.

Finance Commissioner John J. Long said "if the money is available."

Keegan replied he had been told a few months ago "that the city is broke" and "then all at once I hear that the city has had a windfall. I'm not going to worry about costs anymore."

Long said if council wanted to go on record as seeking funds from other sources, it was all right with him. And Mayor Roy W. Eves added it was council's duty to inform the SRC the city would go ahead when funds are available.

But Keegan continued that if the OAKLAND — A new eight-grade elementary school is nearing completion on U. S. Route 40 between Grantsville and Frostburg, as the newest addition to the Garrett County school system.

Willard L. Hawkins, Garrett County school superintendent said the new eight-room structure will result in the closing of a one-room school at Finzel, a two-room school at Johnson, and will serve children now in the Johnson, Finzel, Avilton area, with a number of transfers also from the Grantsville School. When the school at Finzel is closed, it will mark the end of one-room schools in Garrett County.

The new Route 40 Elementary School is being built by contractors Hardesty and Shirer of Oakland, at a contract price of $255,000. Altman and Altman, Uniontown, Pa., were the architects.

The structure will contain eight modern classrooms, an all-purpose room and stage, a kitchen, health room, library, storage room, principal's office, bus boarding shelter, and a large area in the rear of the structure at ground level that will be used temporarily as an indoor play area. At nominal cost, this area can be converted into two large classrooms if they are ever needed.

The new building, designed in a modern and adequate manner without unnecessary frills, is being constructed of brick and cinder block. Window sash and frames are of aluminum. All spouting and lashing is of copper. Suntral glass blocks are used in each classroom and in the all-purpose room. A plastic skydome brings daylight into the corridors.

Each classroom is to be supplied with a display window, wardrobes, bulletin boards, shelving space, chalkboards, storage space, and half of the rooms have sinks and running water.

The school is situated to provide modern school facilities in the center of a vast and growing rural area, with the majority of students traveling by bus. Mr. Hawkins explains that the school in this particular area has been needed for long time, and it is another step in complete modernization of the entire school system and school facilities of Garrett County.

Aren't Steering Wheels Big Enough?

It may be false confidence born of power steering, it may be the wheel to relax during long periods behind the attempt, it may be boredom or just unadulterated showing off. Whatever the reason, more and more drivers cut in and out of traffic on the highways with the right arm draped over the back of the seat, only the left hand on the wheel.

These aren't the drivers who have the distraction of a girl cuddled on their right shoulder, although some may be practicing for that. Often they are alone in their cars. They are counterparts of drivers who use only their left hands seemingly to hold up—or down—the tops of the cars, or to twist an unruly wisp of hair—for anything but to hold on to the steering wheel.

Driving with one hand may be free of serious risk under perfect conditions. But what experienced driver would say he can be certain that the next half-second later conditions will be perfect? He could have a blowout or a child might dart out from a driveway or the side of the road.

Under these circumstances it would take one of these lackadaisical drivers at least a half-second to get both hands on the wheel. And in that time, if he is moving at normal driving speed, his car will travel 30 feet or more—quite a distance—before he can hope to bring his full ability to control his car into play.

With power steering or without, on tiring drives, when trying to demonstrate one's skill as a driver, or at any time at the wheel of an automobile, driving is a job for two hands.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

A Senator And The Court

Senator Jacob K. Javits of New York said something at the meeting of the American Bar Association which seemed to me to be wrong, if not altogether immoral. He advised the lawyers that it was their duty to back up the authority of the Supreme Court with public opinion whether or not they agreed with its decisions.

How a man can, in conscience, support what he does not believe to be true is not within my understanding although it is often done by those who wish to get on and to make no enemies. The intellectuals call it conforming, but they themselves are as guilty as others because if they do not conform to intellectual patterns that are popular at the moment, they grow unpopular in their own circles. Only those do not conform to current patterns who are impervious to the applause of others.

The Senator from New York would have one applaud (for that is what support by public opinion means) the Court as a duty rather than a judgment. Surely it is impossible to applaud Mr. Justice Brennan for his clipped quotation of a precedent from Chief Justice John Marshall, omitting 16 sentences until it becomes a misquotation.

It is true that one likes to speak well of the President of the United States, but Eisenhower would be among the first to deny that one must applaud his every act, speak favorably of his every utterance. Surely Eisenhower would not want anyone to suggest that he is a megalomaniac as were Hitler and Stalin who could not tolerate a contrary point of view. Eisenhower is a modest man who would deny such superiority over others, even though he holds a high position in this country. If the Court is to be applauded for whatever it does, the President should also be and then we cease to be a free people and become a nation of sycophants.

I raise this question because it is becoming increasingly usual to be told that one should not criticize the President as it makes him lose face abroad; that Congress should grant him whatever he desires lest his dignity at home be lessened; that his appointments be praised even when they reduce themselves to ridicule. Similarly, one is told that it is wrong to criticize the Supreme Court.

Recently, I was in conversation with a lady whom I have known for many years and who hated Franklin D. Roosevelt and who regarded Harry Truman as unfit to be President because he failed in the haberdashery business. She and I had always agreed that it is the function of good and effective citizenship to be alert to abuses of power and improprieties of conduct in public office, no matter how high the position. That would seem to be a reasonable attitude in a free society.

However, it is all changed now. A criticism of President Eisenhower for pursuing some policy that Roosevelt or Truman pursued is very wicked. It was all right to oppose Roosevelt and Truman, but it is bad form and intellectual degradation even to whisper a suggestion that while Eisenhower is a pretty decent person, he is not a deity to be adored and salaamed.

I heard persons such as I am here describing speak with brutal frankness about the gifts accepted by Franklin D. Roosevelt and his wife, Eleanor Roosevelt, and the deepfreezes, etc., of the Truman Administration, but they regard Wayne Morse as downright vulgar to raise the same question of gifts which these good Republicans used to bandy about at every dinner party concerning his predecessors.

I suppose every President has received gifts and I don't know whether anyone has ever written a book on the subject, calculating who got more and who got less. But obviously what was wrong for Roosevelt to do or for Truman to do is wrong for anyone else to do and those who were critical of Roosevelt and Truman ought not to be inconsistent in their partnership. At any rate, if they wish to change their minds they ought to apologize to Mrs. Roosevelt for what they said about her.

In a word, in a free society free men speak openly and freely and honestly on public issues and about public men. That is why we are a free people. President Eisenhower said as much in a recent press conference.

Will It Grow Into A Handshake?

Western Alliance Needs Creative Thinking

By Joseph Alsop

PARIS

In a month and half spent shuttling back and forth across the English Channel on various errands and occasions, this reporter has formed rather vivid and not always agreeable impressions of the present state of the Western Alliance. Before taking to the road again it seems worth while to try to sort these impressions out.

Beginning, then, with the second Western ally, the most striking feature of the new British Government of Harold Macmillan is the completeness of its break with the past. In this, the Macmillan government strongly resembles the Eisenhower administration.

As one looks back, the two Truman administrations seem more and more like continuations of the war period in America. The ideas, attitudes, allied relationships and standards of national effort established during the second World War continued to dominate the American scene while Truman was in the White House. Many of the same old faces were seen at the Truman policy tables. There was the same continuity of personalities and viewpoints in London, too, during Britain's Attlee, Churchill and Eden governments.

But in London today, as in Washington four years ago, the wartime ideas and attitudes, relationships and standards, have been briskly jettisoned at last. Some of the resulting American-British echoes are really ironically exact.

For example, former Minister of Defense Anthony Head was dropped from the Macmillan cabinet, not because of Suez as is widely supposed, but simply because he refused to adopt the slogan, "Budget first, defense second"—which has so long been familiar in the Eisenhower administration.

Endometriosis is a strictly female disease. It is said to be on the increase, especially in the middle and upper classes. This is difficult to explain, although some gynecologists believe it is due to later marriages and the widespread use of contraceptives among women. The condition is less prevalent in those who marry early and have many children.

The disorder is caused by a retrograde flow of menstrual debris through the fallopian tubes and the implantation of living cells on the inner surface of the abdomen. These transplants multiply and represent displaced uterine cells from the inner lining of the uterus. They are affected by the same type of hormones that play a role in menstruation, and become congested prior to the period. Occasionally they slough off and cause bleeding.

What harm does endometriosis do? None, when only a few transplants are present. The situation is different, however, when the bladder, intestines, ovaries, and ligaments are covered with these growths. When they swell, pain occurs, especially in the pelvic region.

They may block the fallopian tubes and cause infertility, and now and then are responsible for menstrual changes. Backache is a common complaint and bladder symptoms and rectal pain may be noted. Distress usually precedes the onset of the menses by one or two days and continues, when endometriosis is extensive.

No one knows why this menstrual tissue goes the wrong way. In some instances, the opening of the uterus (cervix) is too narrow to handle the flow. Pads and tampons may play a part. In others, the uterus is tilted backward, allowing gravity to be a factor. The condition tends to regress during pregnancy and following treatment with female hormones such as stilbestrol.

Surgery is employed as a last resort. It is difficult to predict ahead of time what needs to be done. When endometriosis is extensive, a general housecleaning of the pelvis may be advisable.

Baering Down On The News

Charge against UN is that it is on both sides at once like the cat in the picket fence.

J. Edgar Hoover Puts Heat On Congress To Reverse High Court

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—J. Edgar Hoover has been putting the heat on both Houses of Congress to pass the FBI bill to reverse the Supreme Court in the Jencks case. He has almost made it a personal issue as between him and the highest court in the United States.

This is the second time Mr. Hoover has stepped out of his non-political role as an efficient, quiet FBI chief; the previous time having been his public political appearance with Attorney General Brownell to smear ex-President Truman in the Harry Dexter White case.

Many Washington observers have wondered why Hoover took this sudden jump into the political arena on the side of Mr. Brownell. As explained by his close friends, here is the answer:

During the war, Hoover had placed agents with every American embassy abroad. They had done a good job. And after the war, Hoover wanted to build up a super-spy organization to operate all over the world.

He had already had some brushes with Gen. William Donovan's OSS, which during the war was in charge of international espionage. So, when President Truman decided to consolidate overseas operations and replace the OSS with the new Central Intelligence Agency, Hoover went to the White House to plead that CIA be put under him.

Truman considered this was too much police power for one man, and limited the FBI generally to the United States. He told Hoover he was doing a good job here at home and to stick to his domestic knitting. This upset the FBI chief.

Protecting The President.

On top of this, Hoover wanted to take over the Secret Service and its job of guarding the President. This was encouraged by Truman's close friend, Gen. Harry Vaughan. Hoover had assigned a special agent to Vaughan's office and investigated certain peoples Vaughan wanted investigated, which in some cases was playing politics—Democratic politics.

General Vaughan in turn did his best to persuade Truman to use the FBI instead of the Secret Service, and J. Edgar even got the House Appropriations Committee to earmark $25,000 for the FBI to protect the President.

But Truman stopped this cold. He got on the telephone to Vice President Barkley and told him he wanted the FBI kept away from the job of protecting the President. At Truman's request, Barkley blocked the FBI appropriation.

After these two rebuffs, Hoover developed a cold hatred for Harry Truman. From that time on, he never set foot inside Truman's office.

Normally, Hoover is too shrewd to take sides in a political wrangle. But Hoover's friends say he was so bitter against Truman that he abandoned past practice and sat alongside Brownell as they threw the book at Truman in the Harry Dexter White case.

Lobbyists' "Dog" Days

The "dog days" are supposed to be so languid that not even a yellow dog will budge out of the road. In Washington, however, the dog days are the lobbyists' heyday. This is the season when Congressmen are so hell-bent to get out of town they pass almost any legislation.

As a result, the smart lobbyists wait until the last days of Congress and then pull the right wires to stampede their bills through Congress. Here are some special interest bonanzas about to become law.

Bonanza No. 1—A bill introduced by Congressman John Flynt, Georgia Democrat, which originally would have meant millions to Pan American Airways, was passed by the House just twelve days after being reported out of committee.

Pan American has been trying to get this bill through Congress for several years. It would permit subsidized airlines to reinvest their capital gains from selling airplanes without having such capital gains counted as income which would reduce their government subsidy.

This year, Rep. Oren Harris of Arkansas, great friend of Pan American Airways, quietly brought the bill out of his committee in the last hectic days of Congress and it was rushed through the House of Representatives. Opponents of Harris managed to take out most of the profits for Pan American before it passed.

Bonanza No. 2—The airlines are pushing a bill giving them privileged status under the bankruptcy laws. This would permit them to place their airplanes in "equipment trusts" so creditors could not touch them in bankruptcy proceedings.

Bonanza No. 3—Certain airlines are pushing a bill by which the Civil Aeronautics Board would guarantee loans made to feeder airlines and to lines servicing Hawaii, Alaska, and the territories. This bill has passed the Senate.

Contrast—Senator Williams of Delaware has introduced a bill authorizing the admission of a Korean woman, Ching Wol Nyo Ko, to the USA. She is the mother of the famed North Korean pilot who flew a Russian MIG into South Korea and was paid $100,000 by the USA as a reward. The pilot, Kum Sok No, now known as Kenneth Rowe, is living quietly as an American citizen. He is a senior at the University of Delaware. He would like his mother to enter the United States. But no lobbyist is pushing his bill.

Washington Pipeline

When Cy Anderson of the railroad brotherhoods worked backstage for the jury trial amendment, he found that of the 51 senators who voted for jury trials, 32 were friendly to labor, 19 unfriendly. On the other side and voting against the jury trial amendment and for a tough civil rights bill, were various Republican reactionaries and Dixie Democrats who traditionally voted against labor—a total of 29. As a labor man, he considered himself on the right side.

So many of those arrested for stealing automobiles are under 21 years of age. Stealing motor cars appears to be one of the teen-agers favorite outdoor sports. Why hasn't some clever fellow with an inventive mind originated an automobile burglar alarm? For example, a device which will start a siren sounding off incessantly when the car is started by somebody other than the rightful owner. The owner would know how to shut off the siren but the thief would not. Just a suggestion. Think it over.

HORSES AND WOMEN

How old was your wife when she noticed her first gray hair? Back in the 1870s, when that touching ballad titled "Silver Threads Among The Gold" was written, females didn't begin to grow gray until in their middle fifties. It is said that now most women discover their first gray hair when they are about 35. Of course, there is no tragic aspect to it. All they have to do is to decide whether or not to be a brunette, a dazzling ash blonde or a redhead and make a beauty shop appointment to have it arranged. Hair dyeing is an effective appearance rejuvenator if expertly handled. However, some females, especially synthetic redheads, are frequently victims of inept dyeing jobs which make them look slightly freakish.

THAT CLUB

Many members of the New England division of the My Name Is a Poem Club are reported to have greatly benefited financially when that noble thoroughbred named Fluffy McDuffy recently won at Rockingham. Truly Dooley of Providence, R. I., is said to have won enough to make two payments on a new mink coat. Sherman Herman of Boston is reported to have done so well that he has purchased a new motor power lawnmower.

MEASUREMENTS

We are constantly being reminded by press agents of the Three B's (Bust, Belt and Beam) measurements of certain alleged actresses. What have physical measurements to do with acting ability? Minsky show girls and strip tease dancers should be publicized by their bust measurements. Actresses by their mental measurements. What were the physical (Three B's) measurements of Sarah Bernhardt or Eleanor Duse? What are Garbo's physical measurements? How about Helen Hayes? Certainly none of these brilliant women could be styled "oomph girls" but consider their acting talent. Offhand I cannot think of an "oomph girl" type who was truly a great actress.

The recent edition of the Ziegfeld Follies set back the producers a fat $400,000 before the curtain rose for the first performance. Contrast that figure with the bill Florenz Ziegfeld footed for his very first Follies in 1907: exactly $13,000! Giants Officially Decide To Move To San Francisco

New York Directors Vote 8-1 To Shift N. L. Club Franchise

Name "Giants" Will Be Retained; Play On Coast In 1958

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK, Aug. 19 (AP)—The New York Giants officially decided today to become the San Francisco Giants. The Brooklyn Dodgers may decide to follow the Giants to California next week.

The historic decision to move westward was made during a 21-hour meeting when the Giants' board of directors voted 8-1 to shift the National League baseball franchise to San Francisco. The lone dissenter was M. Donald Grant, a minority stockholder.

The Dodgers, who have been given the green light by the league to move to Los Angeles, were expected to formalize their shift at a board meeting next week.

"It's all over, fellows," the perspiring and obviously relieved club president, Horace Stoneham, told a gathering of reporters and photographers in the Giants' offices as he emerged from the closed meeting.

Keep Name "Giants"
"We've just voted to transfer the club to San Francisco. That means we'll be playing on the West Coast next year." That is providing the mayor of San Francisco fulfills all the conditions promised and he agrees to the name of the "Giants" being retained. Approval of the board of directors was expected.

The club, an original member when the National League was formed in 1876, has represented New York City ever since with the exception of a six-year period from 1877 through 1882.

Stoneham, principal force in the drive westward, said he anticipated no difficulty. He revealed negotiations already were under way with Tom Yawkey, owner of the Boston Red Sox, for the Giants to acquire the San Francisco franchise as a forerunner to transferring the Giants to that city. The Red Sox currently operate the San Francisco club in the Pacific Coast League.

To Visit Coast
Stoneham said he planned to leave for San Francisco some time next week to take up the many matters which have to do with drafting the baseball territory from the Coast League. According to baseball rules, initiation for such a move is limited to the period from Oct. 1 through Oct. 31.

"We are perfectly willing to sit down with the Pacific Coast League and discuss what should be a just and proper compensation for the San Francisco territory," said Stoneham. "Machinery has been set up for such arbitration. We certainly are ready to abide by whatever the decision." Stoneham said he had been given to understand that plans already have been drawn up for the proposed new 45,000-capacity stadium and that if the plans are approved the arena could be ready for the 1958 season.

"I've been told the park may be ready by next summer," he said. "Until then we plan to play our games in Seals' Stadium, which seats approximately 22,000. It is our present intention to play all day games there with the exception of twice a week, Tuesday and Friday nights. We certainly don't believe in a complete night schedule."

Reasons Are Given
Stoneham reiterated the underlying reasons for the Giants' decision to quit New York were the steadily diminishing attendance, the inadequate parking facilities and the prospect of losing the lease at the Polo Grounds.

Zihlman Tops Barton, 9-1, Evens Series

Midland Late Rally Defeats Coney, 6-5

Zihlman defeated Barton, 9-1, and Midland rallied in the final frame to edge Lonaconing, 6-5, yesterday, to tie up the semi-final playoff series in the Twilight Baseball League at one-all.

In the contest at Barton, Lefty Bob Keister limited the pennant-winning Bartonites to four hits while his mates slammed the offerings of Jim Wilson and Woody Symons for a total of 12 safeties.

Harold Miller sparked the Zihlman offensive with a double and two singles while Blank collected a two-bagger and single and Jack Anderson rapped a triple. Among Barton's hits was a two-base clout by Jim Wilson.

Bob Cook of Zihlman turned in a sensational catch of Woody Symons' long drive to centerfield and George Bishields played a nice game at short for the winners.

Barton won the opener of the best-of-three series by the score of 4-3.

The "rubber" game is set for Wednesday at 5:30 p. m., at Midland.

Timely hitting by Paul "Bumbles" Thompson and Tom Dunn sent over the tying and winning runs in the bottom of the 7th inning as Midland whipped Lonaconing and evened accounts for a 7-5 setback in the series opener.

Ray Tighe started the Midland rally by drawing a pass and Thompson smacked a double to knot the score at 5-5. Dunn, who had walked in three previous trips to the plate, batted in Thompson with the tally that decided the contest.

Thompson and "Cokie" Robertson went the route on the rubber and each hurler fanned six.

Robertson, Brodie and Richmond shared six of Lonaconing's nine hits while Thompson obtained a double and single for Midland.

Artie Winters of Lonaconing featured afield with a nice stop which he converted into a double play that nipped a Coney rally in the bud.

The third game of this series likely will be played Wednesday on a field yet to be named.

Zihlman 011 321 9-1 2 4
Barton 000 000 0-1 1 1

COACH HAHN BACK ON THE JOB—After taking things easy since last October when a heart condition brought an abrupt halt to his gridiron activities, Coach William P. Hahn returned to action yesterday to send football candidates at Fort Hill High School through their initial practice sessions. The Sentinels' mentor was stricken during the Handley game here 10 months ago and missed the last four games played by his team during the 1956 season. Coach Hahn, beginning his 13th season at the Greenway Avenue school, is shown on the lower right, with backfield star Dalton Hillegas, left, and End Fred Ringer, center. In the background are Mike McCullough, halfback; Doug Metz, fullback, who kicked 17 extra points last season, and Thurl Roy, punting specialist. Hillegas scored nine touchdowns and 54 points during the 1956 campaign.

Elks Protest Upheld In Hot Stove Battle

Resume Play Today, Appeal Is Filed

A protest filed by Manager Howard Northcraft in last Friday's Hot Stove League game in which the Rotary Club beat the Elks, 2-0, at Penn Avenue Field, was upheld by an arbitration committee yesterday and the teams were ordered to resume play today at 5:30 p. m., at Penn Avenue Field from the point where the protest was lodged last week.

Manager Northcraft of the Elks filed his protest in writing yesterday and it was reviewed by John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh, Fort Hill High School baseball coach, and Kenneth "Sookie" Grimes, umpire-in-chief of the Pen-Mar Baseball League, members of the league's arbitration committee.

The Elks protested the crediting of Jim Rice of the Rotary Club with a home run on a ball that went through a hole in the fence. Manager Northcraft produced an official rule book to show that the batter was entitled to only two bases under such conditions. Rice's "home" run was followed by a single and triple in the top of the 7th, giving the Rotarians a 2-0 decision.

In the absence of ground rules, the arbitration committee based their decision on the "official" baseball rule," ordering Rice to return to second base when play is resumed today.

After the Elks-Rotary game is completed the playoffs will get under way with games set for 6 and 8 p. m.

Gallen Files Appeal
After the committee's decision was released last night by Earl M. Nonnenmann, league president, Joe Gallen, manager of the Rotary Club, announced that he was filing an appeal.

"An appeal is hereby filed on the ruling given in the Elks-Rotary game held on Friday, August 16, 1957, at 8:15 p. m., at Penn Avenue Field.

"I would like to call attention to rule 4.01, Section E, of the Official Rules of Baseball.

"General and special ground rules shall be presented by the home manager and, upon agreement by the visiting manager, become legal. In case of a disagreement the umpire-in-chief shall make and enforce such rules as may be necessary."

"During the year the home team manager made the ground rules concerning the field and at various times it was played wide open under the fence.

"Pete Deremer of the Elks presented the ground rules to the umpire. He didn't mention any ruling covering a ball rolling under the fence. When he finished I asked if that was all. He (Pete) replied 'Yes.' I said is everything else 'wide open' (not covered by any ground rules, etc.) He replied: 'Yes.'"

"Furthermore, I feel a hearing should be held concerning the protest with all parties concerned present, since neither manager was present at the hearing.

"The protest committee failed to ask the umpire about the play and went solely on the protest by Farmer Northcraft. I feel the meeting should be held as soon as possible for the benefit of all concerned."

Red Sox Defeat Senators, 4-3, In D. D. Loop Series

Jim Wilson's Red Sox took an other step toward the championship of the Dapper Dan Little League by winning the first game of the final playoff series from the Senators by the score of 4-3 in seven innings yesterday at Penn Avenue Field.

The Dan Division champs scored the winning run in the extra frame on walks by Carl Morrison and Robinson, Harold Hardinger's fielder's choice and Colon Smith's timely single.

Three times during the game the Sox loaded the bases but were unable to score.

Colon Smith got credit for the win, although Lee Miller and Harold Hardinger saw action on the rubber in the bottom of the 7th.

Harvey collected three of the Senators' four hits, one being a

Ellerslie Triumphs, 8-7, On Faulkner's Home Run

Steve's 2-Run Belt Sinks Mt. Savage In Pony Series Battle

Steve Faulkner's circuit wallop with a teammate aboard in the bottom of the 7th and final inning enabled Ellerslie's pennant winning aggregation to come from behind and defeated Mt. Savage in the opening game of the final playoff series in the Bi-State Pony Baseball League yesterday at Ellerslie.

Mt. Savage had taken a 7-6 lead in the top of the 7th on a homer by Ronnie Emerick and threatened to score again when Twain Lowery got out of the jam with the bases loaded.

Rich Lybarger singled to open the 7th for Ellerslie and pilfered second. After the next batter flied out, Faulkner sewed it up with his four-base belt to right-center.

Faulkner batted in five of Ellerslie's eight runs with his homer and two-bagger. He cleaned the bases with a double during a five-run explosion in the third inning. Lybarger obtained a pair of singles and Twain Lowery homered.

Leroy Robertson was Mt. Savage's "big gun" with two home runs and a double to his credit. Emerick had a four-master and a single to his credit.

Lowery gave up 10 hits and fanned seven Mt. Savage batters while Bobby Green, the loser, yielded eight blows and whiffed five.

The second game of the best-of-three series is scheduled for Friday at 5:45 p. m., at Mt. Savage. Scores:

Atlantic City Feature Goes To Decathlon

Beats Tudor Era On Grass Course

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 19 (AP)—With Robert J. Dienst, owner of the River Divide Farm looking on, Decathlon carried the green and purple silks of the Ohio establishment to a one length victory in today's featured event at this seashore course. The event, 5 1/2 furlongs on the grass, marked Decathlon's first attempt over infield courses since his two-year-old campaign here.

Closing fast, but no match for the winner, was Mrs. Herbert Herf's Tudor Era who held a 3 1/2 lengths advantage over Mrs. J. R. H. Thouron's Leap Tide. Back of these three came Tanfran, Adare 2nd, Wassail, Scylak and Chumney.

Decathlon, ridden by Dick Lawless, ran the short distance in 1:05 1/5 over a soft track and paid $2.00, $2.40 and $2.20 as the said choice of the more than 19,000 fans.

The $2,700 earned today by the River Divide star brought his seasonal earnings to $55,554.

Prior to today's event Trainer Rollie Shepp had indicated that the colt would be pointed for the $25,000 added Longport Handicap which is contested late in September.

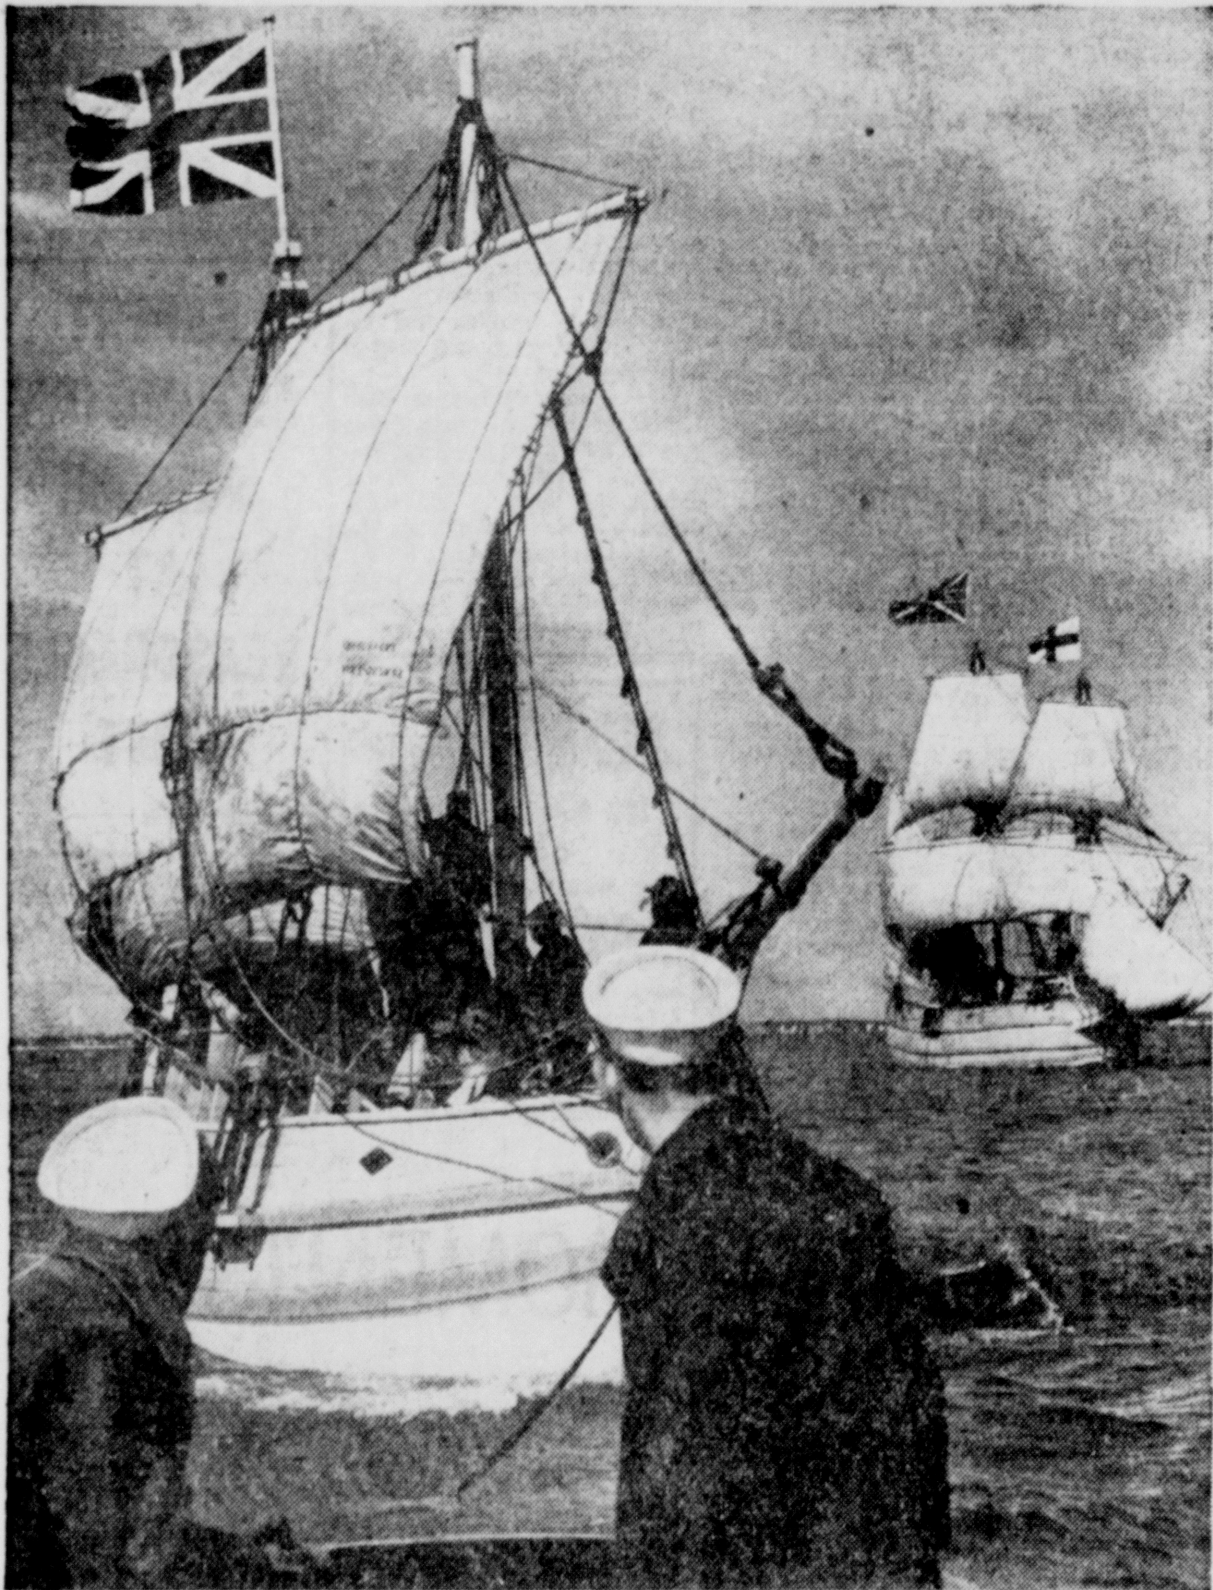

Apprentice Howard Grant idled for several days with a siege of "flu" accepted three mounts today but cancelled out after his first. Weakness and the inclement weather were responsible for the youngster's decision.

A whopping $774.80 daily double, largest of the meeting, was paid the fortunate "11-1" ticket holders. Elkcann Stables City Wide, $78.20, was the big end of the payoff which was completed by John Gilbert's Flag Waver. The latter at $13.60 was ridden by young Arthur Chambers who was scoring his first win in New Jersey.

NEW ERA OF SAILING SHIPS

AS OF OLD. The Discovery, foreground, and the Susan Constant, replicas of ships that brought first settlers to Jamestown, Va., head toward Hampton Roads for sailing trials.

Crewmen haul on the mainsheet lines of the Susan Constant.

*O, the wind and the sea
And a ship sailing by
Brings a song to my lips
And a light to my eye.*

Loose the tops'ls!" "Spanker boom midships!" The cries of the halcyon days of clippers and whaleships are ringing out once more on the broad lanes of the sea. This has been a bright new year for sailing ships.

Foremost in the recent ranks of ships under canvas have been the replicas of historic craft, the Mayflower II, and the three ships that brought the first settlers to Jamestown, the Susan Constant, Godspeed and Discovery. They have become new and stirring sights along our Eastern coast. Another recent visitor to our shores was the three-masted Norwegian sailing ship, the Christian Radich. It was a thing of beauty as it sailed up the Hudson past Manhattan's towering skyline.

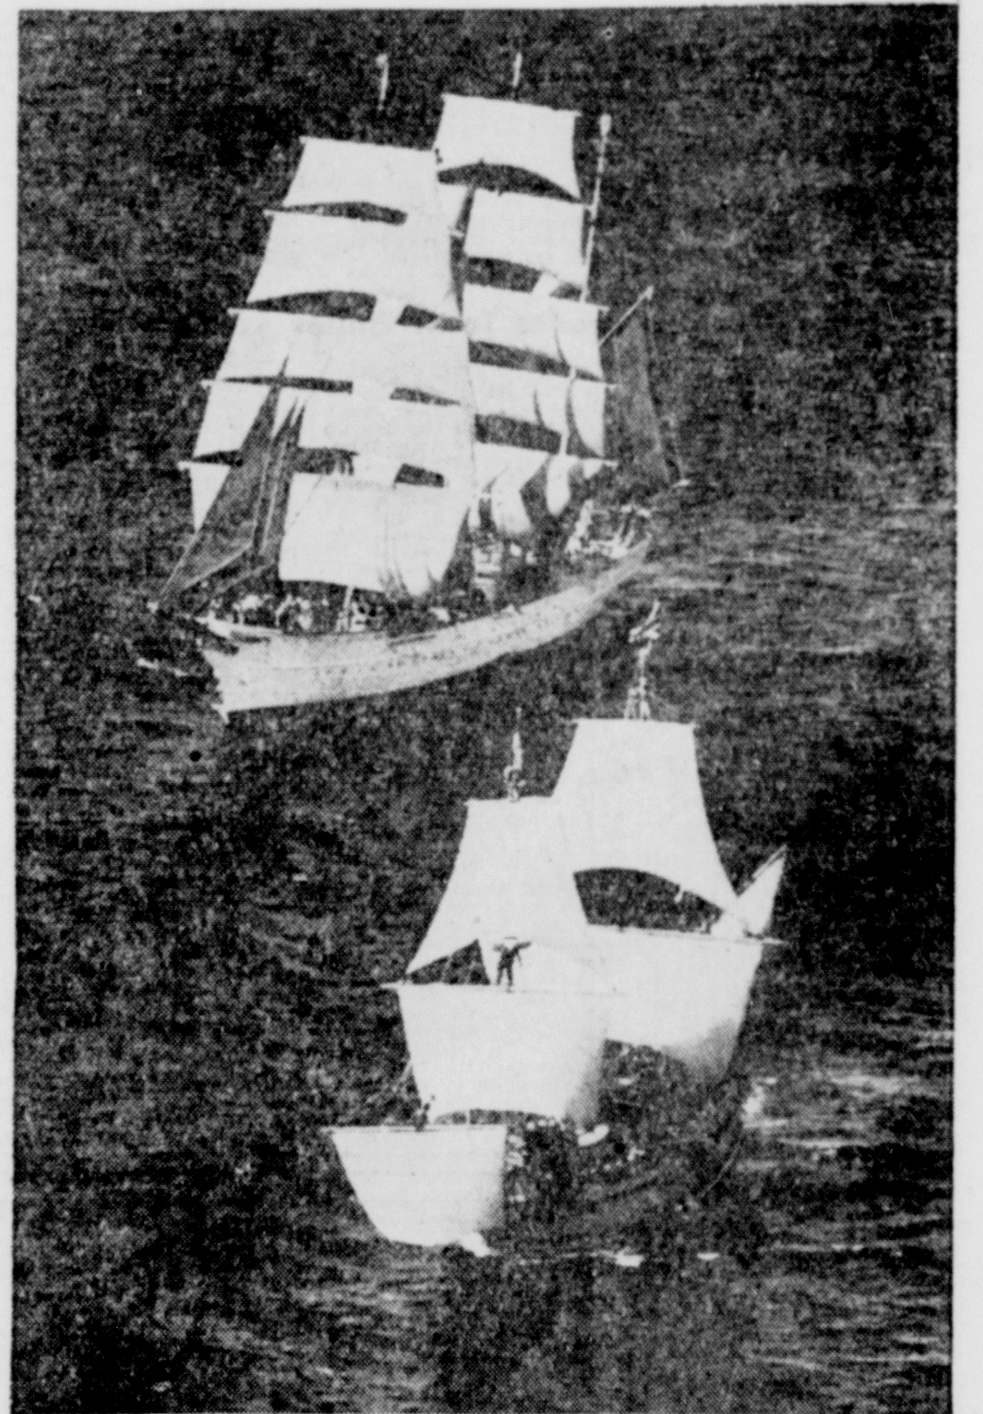

The sailing ship is still an integral part of many navies throughout the world. They're used for training young cadets. Our own familiar one is the Eagle, a graceful, square-rigged bark with shining golden yards and a horde of cadets from the United States Coast Guard Academy. It plies the Atlantic.

Far and wide, there are still some sailing craft that carry cargo from port to port. Not many, but enough to make old mariners glad, and the painter and poet rejoice.

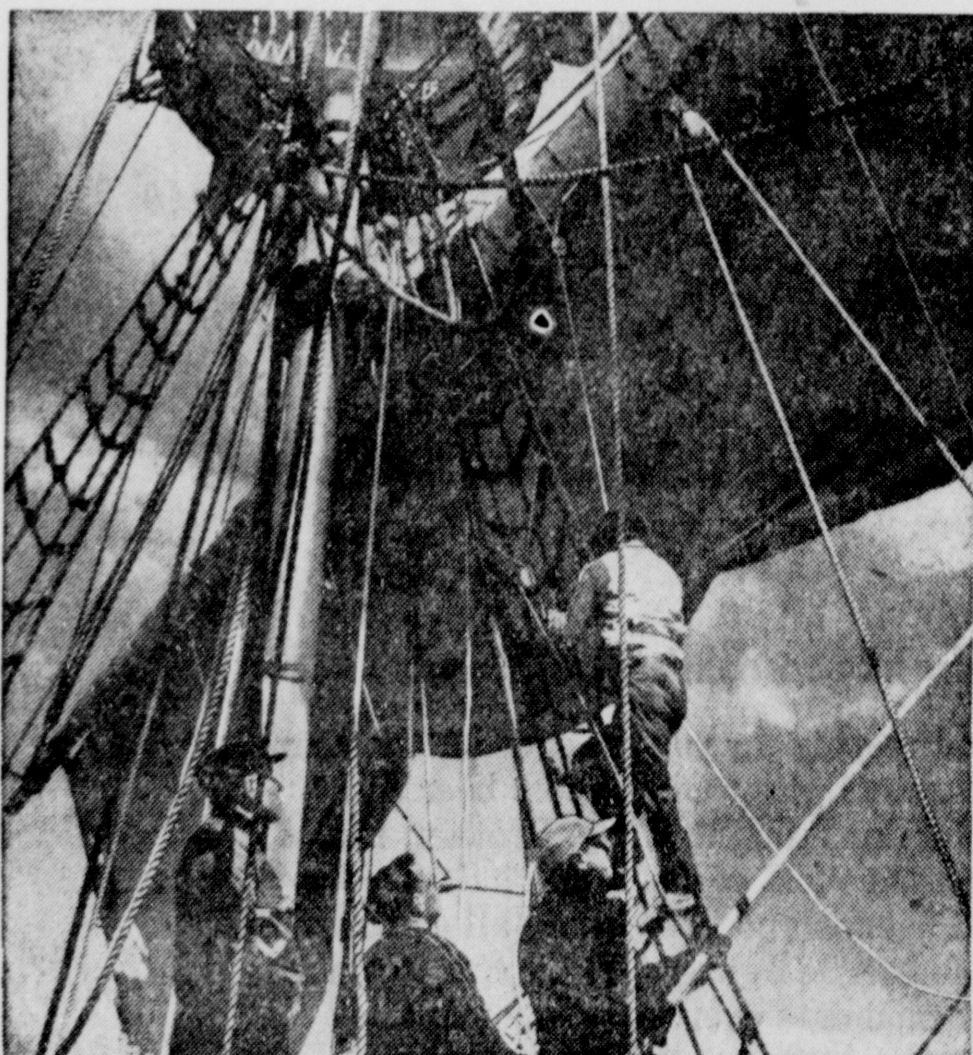

Some of these present-day ships of mast and sail are pictured here.

The three-masted, full rigger sailing ship, the Christian Radich, sails past the Manhattan skyline as she arrives in New York from Norway.

With sails full in the wind, the Mayflower II, foreground, scuds along on her way to Plymouth, Mass. Escorting her is the Coast Guard's stately craft, the training ship Eagle.

Sails shield crew as they unfurl foresheet on the Susan Constant.

Attired in foul weather clothing, cadets in training aboard Coast Guard ship Eagle scramble onto bowsprit to take in jib sail as storm closes in.

The Susan Constant leaves a wake of silvery foam as she sails off the Virginia coast.

Superintendent Plans Calendar For Schools

Holiday Schedule Under Consideration

Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of Allegany County public schools, said yesterday that he plans to work on the 1957-1958 school year calendar this week.

The tentative date for the opening of school for the fall term is Thursday, September 5, according to Mr. Webster, who said there will be half-day sessions on the opening day as well as the following day.

Elementary school principals will confer at the Board of Education building at 9:30 a. m. September 3 and the high school principals will meet that day at 1:30 p. m.

On September 4, high school principals will meet with members of their staff at 9:30 a. m. at the various schools.

In the tentative calendar, teachers will attend a state meeting on October 10 and 11. Mr. Webster said that in making up the calendar it is compulsory that the children attend school 180 days.

He said he usually figures on 182 days in the event there is a heavy snowfall sometime during the winter and children are unable to get to class.

Mr. Webster is pondering over another problem involving the Christmas holiday recess and the closing of school in June.

On December 20 school will close for Christmas and it has not been decided whether to resume classes on the day after New Year's, which is Thursday, or to allow the children two full weeks and resume class on January 6.

In the event the children go back to class on January 2, it would mean the summer vacation would start two days sooner. This matter is under study by Mr. Webster.

The tentative date for the closing of school for Thanksgiving is November 27 with the school doors opening on December 2 for the resumption of classes.

The calendar for the 1958 months will also be determined this week.

House Approves County Keeping 'Borrowed' Bridge

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (AP)—The House passed and sent to the Senate today a bill to give Allegany County, Md., a bridge it borrowed from the Bureau of Public Roads in a flood emergency years ago.

The House Public Works Committee reported that the county has made a permanent structure of the bridge at Correganville and that the cost of removing it would exceed the federal government's interest in it.

Cumberland Fair

high, nor quite so fast. It is expected to be a popular matinee attraction.

There are the usual cars, fire engines, an electric train, a merry-go-round and several other miniature rides for the youngsters. Prices are reduced especially for today's matinee and then on Thursday, the children's matinee performance along the midway is to be repeated.

Judging Scheduled

Judging of household exhibits, poultry and some cattle will begin today. FFA and 4-H exhibition areas are crowded with cattle, produce and other items of interest to Fairgoers. Some of the youngsters at the exhibition hall yesterday said the showing this year is very good "despite the dry season", as they explained everything that was grown was given extra care and only the best was brought in for exhibition.

The stage show scheduled for tonight, will be repeated tomorrow.

On Thursday and Friday nights, the grandstand attraction will be the "Hay Ride" featuring Marvin Rainwater, a recording artist.

Saturday night a Rock 'n' Roll band will provide the entertainment, and this show is expected to attract a record crowd here as it has elsewhere. Fair management brought it to Cumberland because of a number of requests.

Back again after being absent last year is Miss Jessie Griffith, organist. She will provide the music for the several grandstand acts and will give a concert prior to the show and during intermission.

Even though things seemed to be getting off to a late start last yesterday afternoon, Fair officials expressed their pleasure last night at the progress that was made in a short time. When the gates open at 1 p. m. today, they assure the public there will be plenty to see and plenty to do, with enough entertainment this afternoon had tonight to satisfy just about everybody.

Legislators Urged To Speed Area Roads

Interstate Status For Route 40 Is Termed Urgent

Western Maryland legislators yesterday made an urgent plea before the Legislative Council's Committee on State Roads that Route 40, between Hancock and Washington, Pa., be included in the Interstate highway system.

The committee was asked to include, in its report to the General Assembly, that the road be included in the federal interstate system.

Actually, the members of the committee who drove here yesterday over Route 40 for the first of a series of regional meetings, beat the area legislators to the draw.

Turnbull Asks

On hearing a report from G. Bates Chaires, district SRC engineer, on work in progress on Polish Mountain, Senator John Grason Turnbull asked why the Western Maryland highway is not in the interstate system.

Traffic on Route 40 should be continuing west, he said, instead of being diverted to Pennsylvania.

The legislators discussed at considerable length the possibility of doing current work on the highway so that the portions built could serve as lanes for an interstate road.

John J. McMullen, member of the Maryland State Roads Commission, told Senator H. Winship Wheatley Jr., chairman of the committee, that Route 40 in Western Maryland has first priority with the SRC if additional interstate mileage is authorized.

Route 301, he added, has second priority if the program is extended.

He said it was not known here until a year or so ago that the Route 40 did not go interstate west of Hancock.

The SRC, he added, has asked the Bureau of Public Roads to include the stretch, but up to now Pennsylvania has not made a similar request.

Friend's Opinion

Senator Clifford Friend, of Garrett County, said all else is of small consequence to getting Route 40 in the interstate system.

State Senator Charles M. See said Route 40 is now a terrible road, and that he did not care who pays the bill "so long as we get a decent road."

Presents Program

Sen. See presented to the committee the following list of items he and the Allegheny County Delegation feel are urgently needed:

1. Acceleration of the work on Route 51, from North Branch to the Potomac River Bridge.
2. Acceleration of the work on Route 40, from Sideling Hill to Cumberland.
3. Westernport to Barton improvements on Route 36.
4. Construction of new Wiley Ford Bridge.
5. Frostburg to Barton improvements on Route 36.
6. Provide an adequate highway from North Branch to Cumberland.
7. New Pinto Bridge and necessary road to connect U. S. Route 220 with W. Va. Route 9.

Senator Wheatley suggested that the projects be evaluated on the basis of a recently completed SRC study of the efficiency of roads.

He asked the Allegheny County legislators to study these efficiency ratings and then present recommendations to the committee which is to report to the General Assembly.

Mr. Chaires, when asked if any area road work should be accelerated, pointed out that the $50,000,000 construction planned by the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company at Luke creates a serious traffic situation in Westernport — unforeseen when the 12-year road program was planned.

Garrett County legislators were told also to evaluate their recommendations to the committee on the basis of SRC reports on road efficiency.

Back Proposal

Sen. Clifford Friend asked the committee to back a proposal to substitute the construction of a section of State Route 135 for an unimproved county road which roughly parallels it.

The Senator also urged that the SRC acquire rights of way in advance in order to reduce costs and so communities may plan orderly expansion programs.

Sen. Wheatley said the committee is making a study of the state road system and making its recommendations and asked Sen. Friend to submit the Garrett County recommendations.

The committee asked that records of right of way costs be available when it holds regional meetings Wednesday at 1 p. m. in Chestertown and 8 p. m. in Salisbury.

Committee To Aid In Giving Access To Western Md.

Speaking for the top leaders of the General Assembly, Senator H. Winship Wheatley Jr., last night assured civic and business leaders of this area that the Legislative Council's Committee on State Roads will do its part to provide the citizens of Maryland with proper roads needed to get to the hills of Western Maryland.

Sen. Wheatley of Prince George's County, chairman of the committee, assured officials of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, the Route 40 Association, the South Cumberland Business Men's Association and the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council the roads will open the opportunities of travel between the Eastern Shore and the mountains of the state's Western counties.

The Chamber of Commerce and the Route 40 Association were hosts to members of the committee, area legislators and city and county officials at a dinner meeting in the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

Cobey Speaks

W. Earle Cobey, spokesman for the Chamber, said Western Maryland was isolated when the interstate system stopped at Hancock.

Development of Western Maryland, he said, suffers from lack of adequate highways.

He told the legislators progress is being made on the scenic C & O Canal Parkway between Hancock and Cumberland and urged support in the General Assembly if legislation is needed to implement the present plan.

J. L. Towler for the Route 40 Association, pointed out Western Maryland last year secured only about $2,000,000 of the state's $80 million tourist business.

The area will get its share, he said, if roads are provided.

"Why," Mr. Towler queried, "cannot Western Maryland have some of the money which is being saved by the interstate system?"

He said that if Route 40 had been designated as interstate road, Maryland would have had to put up only 10 per cent of the costs.

We would like, he said, to have part of the 10 per cent to build the road from Hancock west.

Urges Speedup

The committee was asked by Arnold A. Robertson, president of the South Cumberland Business Men's Association, to use its influence with West Virginia to speed the construction of the Wiley Ford Bridge.

He also urged the committee to hurry up the construction of Route 51 from here to Paw Paw and give top priority to the Industrial Highway here.

The expansion of Garrett County's recreational program depends upon adequate roads, Helmut Heise, motel operator and president of the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council, reported.

Route 40, he said, is Garrett County's lifeline, and an adequate road would make Maryland a year-around vacationland.

Charles S. Chamberman Jr., president of the Chamber, was toastmaster for the dinner meeting. In his address of welcome, he paraphrased the title of a recent book to describe Western Maryland's dilemma . . . "You can't get here from anywhere."

Legislators Discuss Roads

Members of the committee on roads of the Legislative Council are shown as they met at the City Hall here yesterday to discuss road needs of the area. Chief topic of conversation was action to include U. S. Route 40 between Hancock and Washington, Pa. in the Federal Interstate Highway System. Seated, left to right, are Senator Louis L. Goldstein, Senator H. Winship Wheatley Jr., chairman of the committee, and Senator Joseph A. Bertorelli. Standing, same order, are Delegate George R. Hughes Jr., minority leader of the House of Delegates, and Senator John Grason Turnbull.

Magistrate Hears Case Of Couple

A local husband and wife yesterday were given hearings on charges of attempting to take their own lives and neglect of their five children.

Magistrate J. Milton Dick ordered Donald Parker, 31, of 509½ Decatur Street, held for examination at the Spring Grove State Hospital. Parker was charged with attempting to take his own life last Monday at his home.

At a hearing yesterday afternoon in Juvenile Court on the charge of neglecting his children, Magistrate Fred H. Anderson concurred with the decision of Magistrate Dick ordering Parker committed to the Spring Grove institution.

His wife, Mrs. Ruth Parker, 31, also was given a hearing yesterday in Juvenile Court and was ordered by Magistrate Anderson to be given a complete physical and mental examination.

Magistrate Anderson said the final disposition in Mrs. Parker's case would not be made pending the final report on her condition by the doctors. The court made arrangements for the care of the Parker children while Mrs. Parker is undergoing the examination and treatment.

Magistrate Dick last night said the charge against Mrs. Parker of attempting to take her life has been dismissed as far as Trial Magistrate Court is concerned.

Mr. and Mrs. Parker were arrested by city police last Monday night at their home following a report that they were attempting suicide. Police found the Parkers in their kitchen with five burners on a range turned on and all windows and doors closed.

The affected area includes the Winchester Road, Brant Road and the area around the school.

146 Persons Donate Blood At Celanese

Quota Nearly Met Despite Rejections

A total of 146 pints of blood was collected yesterday by the mobile unit of Johnstown (Pa.) Regional Blood Center on its visit to the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation of America.

Mrs. Norman W. Taylor, chairman of the recruitment, said last night the 150-pint quota was almost reached despite 45 persons being rejected because of colds and other ailments.

Mrs. Taylor said 158 persons scheduled appointments and of this number 148 kept them. A total of 191 persons visited the unit which was located in the conference room.

Of the 146 pints collected at the local plant, 119 persons donated blood for the first time and 43 walk-ins visited the blood unit on its first time to the plant.

Local physicians who were in attendance yesterday were Dr. James McLean and Dr. Louis Mould.

Two persons yesterday reached the one gallon mark. They were Byron A. Bonebreak, RFD 5, city, and Walter Ensminger, 221 Emily Street.

Another Celanese employee, Woodrow Malone, 207 East Elder Street, became a two-gallon donor.

A spokesman for the plant last night said the quota would easily have been reached had it not been for the large number of rejections and the fact that many employees of the Amcelle plant contributed blood to the unit on its recent visit to Cumberland in July.

Mrs. Taylor said the next visit here for the bloodmobile will be on Monday, September 9, when it will be at the Eagles home on North Mechanic Street.

Details for the Amcelle stop were handled by Hudson Nix, personnel manager, and Robert M. King, supervisor of public relations.

The Maryland Department of Employment Security has issued a policy statement which prohibits its officials and employees from engaging in outside activities which might interfere with the performance of their official responsibilities or might conflict with the best interests of the Department.

"The effectiveness of the Department of Employment Security in serving the public interest," declared Robert B. Kimble, executive director, in issuing the statement, "depends upon the extent to which the department and its officials and employees hold the confidence and esteem of employers, claimants and the general public."

"To hold the public confidence, the officials and employees of the Department must not only obey the literal requirements of both State and Federal laws and regulations governing official conduct, but also show by their conduct that they support the moral and ethical principles which underlie these laws and regulations."

"This means that each of us must do his part in maintaining the reputation of the department by conducting himself at all times in such manner that his actions will bring credit upon the department and the State and Federal services."

Cumberland Fair Gets Off To Slow Start

Kiddies Matinee This Afternoon

Cloudy skies and threat of rain which failed to materialize put a slight damper on the opening day of the 40th Cumberland Fair yesterday, and crowds were not really crowds but only a mere handful of people.

In the exhibition halls, along the midway and throughout the whole expanse of America's most beautiful fairgrounds, however, there was plenty of activity. Commercial booths, agency and service displays and the exhibits in the main exhibit hall were not completed until early last evening. By last night, however, the fair was ready to go.

Opening day at the fair is always a little slow, but yesterday afternoon's crowd of fewer than 50 paid admissions to the grandstand to see the Chitwood Thrill Drivers, was about the smallest on record. Last night however, a larger crowd appeared.

Tonight, people from all over the area are expected to attend the fair, not only for the colorful variety show to be presented, but to see the bevy of playground and farm queens who will be making personal appearances.

Queens To Attend

Five area farm queens, from among whom Miss Fairgo is to be named on Saturday, will be introduced to fair patrons tonight. Each person attending the fair is given an opportunity to vote for Miss Fairgo from these five pretty girls.

The visiting farm queens include Miss Susan Bowman, Miss Garrett County Fair; Miss Agnes Rose Oaks, Somerset County; Miss Louise Pyles, West Virginia; Miss Patricia Smith, Mineral County; and Miss Mary Vandervort, Allegheny County Farm Queen.

Eugene Mason, Cumberland recreation director, will be on hand to introduce 14 Cumberland playground queens, as an added attraction.

Starting at 8 p. m. on the stage in front of the grandstand, the Hamid Shows will present a series of variety acts. The two Adams, in a sensational cyclist act plus the Adams Chimps, are added to please young and old alike. The Great Fattini, a swan pool aerial exhibition will provide the thrills and chills, while George Marks is scheduled to present his famous ventriloquism demonstration. Fireworks will follow.

This afternoon is a special matinee for the children. Prel's shows which dot the midway, have a number of new attractions added since last year. Always popular here, Samuel Prel said yesterday there are eight rides for little kiddies, plus a dozen other rides for the bigger boys and girls and adults.

Prel's giant twin ferris wheels were put in operation last night, and of special interest to the little people is a miniature ferris wheel, that doesn't go nearly so high.

Getting Ready For The Fair

Charles and Dick DeLauder of Hagerstown are shown getting "Croma", a Guernsey heifer, ready for exhibition at the 40th annual Cumberland Fair which runs all this week at Fairgo. The heifer is owned by H. W. McElwee of Hagerstown, proprietor of Distinct View Farm in Washington County. Most of the livestock at the fair will be judged today. A children's matinee is planned this afternoon and should bring plenty of youngsters to America's most beautiful fairgrounds located just off McMullen Highway. Special attractions are planned each day of interest to residents of the Tri-State area.
